

Take-Home Activity: Comparing What is Important

There may be some similarities between what parents and teenagers think is important—such as family or pets—but there may also be differences. Write down what is important to each of you and see if there are any differences. Then discuss what is important to each of you and why.

What is important to parents?

What is important to teenagers?

What is important to both of us?